FROM REV. DEVAL MASON

The other day I spoke with someone who shared with me about their elderly parent. Before Covid 19 their parent had been very active, getting out several times a day in order to see the people who they socialized with. Once Covid 19 restrictions hit, this parent could no longer get out to see the people they knew. The parent essentially became homebound, stopped being active even around the home, and lost over 20 pounds of weight. The child did not live in the same town as the parent, but decided to make the long trip every day in order that the parent would have someone to socialize with, even though it was difficult for them to do this. Even during a global pandemic crisis, we see wonderful examples of how love can make a life changing experience for others. May each of us allow our love to reach out and make a difference in someone else's life during this time of crisis, because we need each other. God Is Good! All The Time!
